

ASSOCIATION of LABOR RELATIONS
AGENCIES

HOLD THE DATE - ALRA ADVOCATES' DAY MONDAY, JULY 20, 2015

ALRA is the association of impartial government agencies in the United States and Canada responsible for administering labor-management relations laws or services. The association promotes cooperation among these agencies, high professional standards, public interest in labor relations, improved employer-employee relationships, and peaceful resolution of employment and labor disputes through mediation, conciliation, fact-finding, arbitration or adjudication.

WHAT IS ADVOCATE'S DAY?

Advocate's Day is part of ALRA's annual conference which is co-sponsored in 2015 by the Minnesota Bureau of Mediation Services and the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Services' Minneapolis Regional Office. The conference will be held Saturday, July 18, 2015 through Tuesday, July 21, 2015 at the Marquette Hotel in downtown Minneapolis.

Conference delegates and presenters will be from the nation's premier labor relations administrative organizations, including the FMCS, NLRB, NMB, FLRA, Canadian Federal and Provincial authorities and the most active US state agencies responsible for labor law administration.

On Monday, July 20th labor relations advocates and professionals from throughout the region are invited to join with conference attendees for a day of education and discussion about current labor relation topics with presentations by national and local speakers. Planning is currently underway, for topics, themes, and subjects important to employer and labor advocates as well as the practicing labor relations bar. ALRA will seek CLE credits for Advocates Day seminars.
